Theme of the seminar :

India is marching forward with a clear vision to become a global power even as most of the world is struggling with low growth. India is a Land of Colours, Diversity and Vibrancy. The diversity in every particle of its making also holds true for its unity.

Today, the entire world is talking about India's development. The world has agreed that the 21st century is going to be Asia's century. India would be a significant contributor in this process. In fact the future of Asia lies in the strength of India.

Sixty five percent of the population of India is under thirty five, India is young and will stand on the strength of these youth so we are now on the path of carrying the torch forward, focused on igniting and channelizing hidden potential in our youth.

India engages the world with greater confidence and assurance for Vibrancy. It does so with the intent of ensuring stronger growth, greater connectivity, closer integration and deeper harmony. It wants to expand its commonalities and manage its differences. The policies and administration of Government will improve the Indian economy and its track record which will be a herald for 'Vibrant India'. India is prepared to shoulder greater responsibility and expects that this would be duly reflected in the structure of the international order.

While a major initiative is by strategizing and implementing a strong economic policy, social cohesion and collaboration of international communities are equally important. India would not be able to become Vibrant India unless its populace becomes fully literate and that there will be a need for citizens to come forward and contribute to the cause.
